Michael Fassbender plays the tormented genius in "Steve Jobs"; Jobs' widow Laurene insists the flick is unfair

ROTTEN TO THE CORE!

APPLE founder Steve Jobs' widow is trashing a new film that reveals her billionaire husband's dirtiest secrets!

The new movie, "Steve Jobs," portrays the computer genius "warts and all!" says a showbiz insider.

He's branded a ruthless cheapskate who dumped his pregnant girlfriend – and turned his back on their infant daughter!

But even before the film was made, Laurene Jobs, 51, who married Steve in 1991, did her damndest to torpedo the project, the insider says.

"Laurene called Leo DiCaprio and said, 'Don't do it.' Laurene called Christian Bale and said, 'Don't do it,'" reveals the source.

Subsequently, Bale and DiCaprio both passed on the movie. But despite Laurene's best efforts, the flick was made with Michael Fassbender in the title role and was rolled out this month.

Steve – who died at age of 56 on Oct. 5, 2011 with a net worth of $10 billion – is portrayed "as a brilliant but flawed leader," another source says.

And his most glaring flaw was denying he fathered Lisa Brennan – even though a paternity test eventually confirmed he was her dad!

What's more, he dumped Lisa's mother, his high school sweetheart Chrisann Brennan, in 1977 after he knocked her up!

And he only coughed up a meager $500 a month in support – at a time when he was worth $225 MILLION!

Chrisann, meanwhile, worked as a waitress and collected welfare checks to support Lisa, now 37.

"You can't hide the truth," a source says. "Steve Jobs wasn't always a nice guy. If Laurene can't handle that, too bad!"

NICOLE BANNED FROM DAUGHTER'S WEDDING!

NICOLE KIDMAN was cruelly snubbed by her daughter, Isabella, who got hitched in London but coldly left her mom off the guest list — even though the actress was in town, sources say.

“Nicole was devastated,” says an insider.

Isabella’s brother, Connor, and superstar dad, Tom Cruise, were also no-shows, reportedly boycotting the event.

Isabella Cruise, 22, who was adopted by Nicole and Tom a little over two years after their 1990 wedding, tied the knot with British boyfriend Max Parker in an intimate Scientology ceremony on Sept. 18.

Family strife

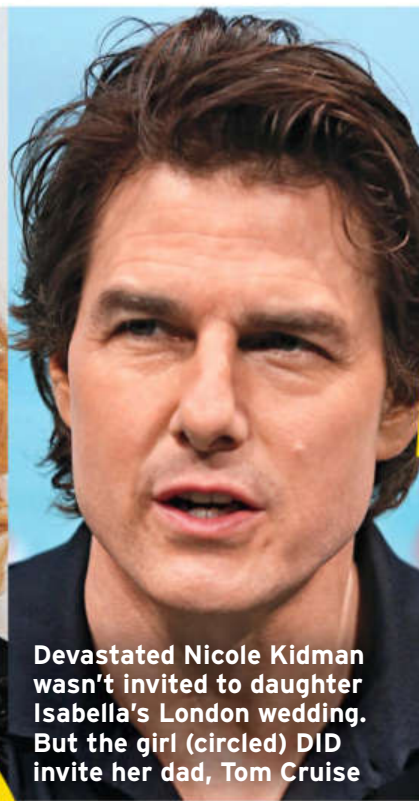

“Isabella hasn’t seen Nicole much over the years and didn’t think she should be invited to her wedding,” says the source. “They don’t have a close relationship.”

The official line is that Nicole, Tom and Connor didn’t attend because makeup artist Isabella didn’t want a media circus.

But sources say Tom, 53, and Connor, 20, were absent because they don’t approve of technology consultant Max.

“Tom and Connor aren’t fans of Max,” the insider says. “Yes, he’s a Scientologist, but he doesn’t practice the religion, so they don’t consider him a real church member.

Devastated Nicole Kidman wasn’t invited to daughter Isabella’s London wedding. But the girl (circled) DID invite her dad, Tom Cruise

“Tom tried to put on a positive spin, telling Isabella that he was doing his best to get out of his hectic work schedule, but he wasn’t sure he could.”

Meanwhile, Nicole, 48, was in London doing the play “Photograph 51” at the Noël Coward Theatre, which closes on Nov. 21.

“It hurt her deeply that she was minutes away from her daughter’s wedding, but never got an invitation,” says the source.

“She would have readily accepted a last-minute invite, but that just didn’t happen.”

Friends say that despite Tom’s boycott, the “Mission: Impossible” hunk picked up the hefty check for the ceremony and reception at London’s pricey Dorchester Hotel.

“Tom hasn’t seen much of his daughter as she mostly lives in England now,” adds the insider.

“Isabella didn’t want her mom there — but it hurt that her brother and father weren’t present.”

COUNTRY queen Dolly Parton was caught in a terrifying cancer drama after being rushed in agony to the hospital, GLOBE has learned!

And friends fear the 98-pound beauty may be hiding stomach cancer!

Dolly was secretly hospitalized at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville under an assumed name after arriving in utter misery, says a source close to the singer.

"She was in such pain," says the worried source, who detailed brave Dolly's race to the hospital.

"It's not the first time — she's been in a cancer battle before."

A medical team ran tests and initially diagnosed the source of her agony as kidney stones.

The tortured star received laser treatment for the condition, but the insider worries the 69-year-old singer isn't out of danger yet!

Not the first time

"We're all terrified she has a far more serious condition than kidney stones," says the source.

"So far, the laser treatments haven't worked, and she's undergoing more testing. The scary thing is she has the symptoms of stomach cancer — and this is what she could be hiding."

This isn't the first time Dolly has stared down a possible cancer diagnosis, GLOBE can reveal.

In 2013, she was diagnosed

DOLLY'S HUSH-HUSH CANCER DRAMA!

Dolly had to be rushed to the hospital as suffering from gastroesophageal reflux disease, or severe acid reflux, sources say.

The condition causes heartburn, sore throats, hoarseness, coughs and difficulty swallowing — and can lead to esophageal cancer, according to medical experts.

After a sudden 20-pound weight loss that year, Dolly was consumed by fear.

An insider at the time said the tiny vocal powerhouse had researched her condition and knew developing cancer was a real possibility.

Even though she was terrified of a cancer diagnosis, she bravely sought out doctors to confront her fears head on!

Then, as now, Dolly kept her condition secret.

"Dolly always projects an upbeat, positive image, but underneath that she was terrified," the source says.

Doctors told Dolly her condition could be improved by implanting a state-of-the-art medical device called LINX into her esophagus.

After weighing her choices, Dolly opted to undergo a top-secret surgery.

"Dolly didn't want her friends, family and fans to worry about her, so the entire procedure was done under the tightest secrecy," the source recalls.

Dolly decided to have the operation at the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, Fla., one of the first medical centers to offer the experimental anti-reflux surgery.

Her doctor flew in from Los Angeles to consult with the surgeons about the new device, which was approved by the FDA in March 2012.

Doctors and nurses huddled over Dolly during a tense, five-hour surgery — which did not go entirely as planned, says the insider.

"The procedure was supposed to last two hours, but it took five."

During the operation, "surgeons discovered masses of scar tissue, which had to be removed and biopsied for cancer cells," says the source.

"When it was over, she told friends there, 'It went very well. I'm going to be fine.'"

But medical experts warned the "9 to 5" singer may not be completely cured — and she needs regular endoscopies to check for abnormalities.

"While doctors told her the scar tissue showed no signs of cancer, they want to continue monitoring her carefully. She'll need regular checkups for the rest of her life," says the source.

Dolly's recent crisis serves as a grim reminder of the cancer threat she faces for the rest of her life.

"The pain is unbelievable and all the fears of her operation two years ago came back," says the source. "She dodged a bullet then, but now she's worried her luck has run out."

DIANA'S BODY EXH

William & Harry open mom's grave to OBTAIN PROOF AGAINST CHARLES!

NE

PRINCESS Diana's body has been exhumed from her island grave on the orders of sons William and Harry, who are determined to prove she was murdered by their father!

Charles is firmly in the young royals' crosshairs after their grandmother, Queen Elizabeth, confessed her oldest son was behind the August 1997 Paris car crash that killed Di.

Now scientists are working at a feverish pace to bring Charles to justice, and intend to unravel the chilling murder conspiracy based on new forensic evidence, a top British investigator reveals.

"After being stonewalled by their father and ranking government officials, William and Harry took matters into their own hands," says the investigator.

"They sought out the best cold-case scientists and sent a team to dig up their mom, who was laid to rest at her ancestral home, Althorp.

"They didn't tell Charles or anyone else in the royal family. They wanted no more roadblocks. They acted fast — and under cover of secrecy. They are determined to know the truth once and for all."

But the decision to open Diana's grave wasn't easy for her sons, who were just boys when she died. For years, William and Harry, egged on by their father, bought into the official story that Diana and her Muslim lover, Dodi Fayed, died in a crash caused by their drunk driver, a palace insider says.

The boys suspect their dad after The Queen recently blamed Charles for the deaths — saying someone “greased the brakes” on the car. “William told his younger brother it was time for them to fully investigate the circumstances surrounding their mother’s death and commission a private autopsy,” says the insider.

“William told Harry they had no other option. There was no one they could trust — the murder conspiracy and cover-up ran too deep.”

A decade ago, when Royal Coroner Michael Burgess was considering exhuming Diana, her sons were horrified. They spiked the plan, insisting their mother be left to rest in peace.

However, many troubling unanswered questions have bubbled to the surface since then — and the evidence points directly at Charles! After some deep soul-searching, Harry and his big brother agreed to begin the investigation.

A backhoe was airlifted by helicopter to the island where Diana was buried, the investigator says. Once her casket was unearthed, the coffin containing her remains was flown to a secret lab so the body could be tested.

A new objective autopsy by independent doctors is the centerpiece of the current probe, sources say.

The procedure will determine if Diana was, indeed, pregnant with Fayed’s child when she died.

“A pregnancy would establish a clear motive for Charles and his royal circle ➔ wanting her assassinated,” says the highly placed royal source.

“There are some people who would do anything to prevent that from becoming public.”

Certainly the cover-up began within hours of the crash.

French radiologist Dr. Elizabeth Dion says she saw a fetus on an X-ray and a sonogram of Diana taken at the hospital. But her observations were ignored by government officials in France AND Britain.

Diana’s body was speedily embalmed in France in a desperate bid to destroy any forensic evidence before it was examined in her homeland. But science has made dramatic leaps since then — and the pregnancy can now be exposed!

‘A pregnancy would establish a clear motive for Charles’

“Even years after death, an embalmed body can yield a lot of information,” says Prof. Jerry Conlogue of Quinnipiac University in Connecticut.

“There could be signs of an embryo growing in the womb.”

Famed medical examiner Cyril H. Wecht, author of “Final Exams,” says a fresh autopsy would determine if someone presented another woman’s DNA to scientists conducting Britain’s official inquest in order to throw investigators off track. The scenario is a key part of the suspected conspiracy, and new tests offer new hope for the truth.

Egyptian film producer Dodi Fayed and Diana became lovers in 1997

“Even after 18 years, some DNA could be retrieved from Diana’s bone marrow or even her fingernails and hair roots,” says Dr. Wecht.

“If the new DNA doesn’t match the previous samples, it would mean someone committed fraud.”

“That would support the persistent belief that the royals masterminded a cover-up of Diana’s pregnancy,” adds another insider, “and point the finger squarely at Charles.”

Palace sources predict the fallout from the new autopsy will be devastating for the royal family.

“If Charles is implicated, William is sure to be the next king when Queen Elizabeth’s reign ends — and any relationship between him and his father will be over.”

MARILYN LOOKALIKE MAKES $4 MILLION!

If you ever needed proof gentlemen prefer blondes, look no further than Susan Griffiths – the ultimate Marilyn Monroe look-alike!

The 55-year-old actress from Tustin, Calif., has made about $4 million since the 1980s impersonating the ill-fated sex kitten on magazine covers and TV shows and at high-priced corporate events.

"People always told me I looked like Marilyn," Susan says.

These days, that translates into $1,500 to $4,000 for a single appearance.

Even more shocking – it took her until she was 21 years old to see her first Marilyn movie. Since then, she's boned up for the glamorous role!

"It took a lot of practice to get Marilyn's mannerisms right – especially her breathy voice," says Susan. "I spent hours poring over her movies."

Now, she even croons off-key like the classic beauty, who starred in 1954's "There's No Business Like Show Business" with Ethel Merman.

"Marilyn wasn't known for being an incredible singer," she says, "but I had to study with several vocal coaches."

The prep paid off with numerous acting gigs that allowed her to breathe new life into old Marilyn – like in "Quantum Leap" and "Pulp Fiction." She even played Marilyn to Jimmy Kimmel's JFK on the cover of GQ.

But there have been offers she doesn't find worthy.

"I was also offered a chance to model nude while impersonating Marilyn, but I turned it down," she says.

"I felt it was disrespectful to her memory."

DYING DICK VAN DYKE TERRIFYING COLLAPSE

DA Z E D a n d confused Dick Van Dyke took a terrifying tumble — and friends fear the comedy legend is facing his final curtain call. On Oct. 2, the 89-year-old “Mary Poppins” star was at the Malibu Playhouse, where he was performing with “The Vantastix” quartet, when disaster struck.

“All of a sudden Dick appeared to lose it!” an insider tells GLOBE. “He was disoriented and collapsed. Fortunately, he was able to regain his composure and didn’t need to be hospitalized.”

But the frightening fall is just the latest link in a long chain of health horrors for the dying star.

His issues go back to the 1960s when he starred with Mary Tyler Moore on their hit series, “The Dick Van Dyke Show.”

Dick and Julie Andrews co-starred in “Mary Poppins”

“He has admitted that he was basically soused for 15 years—though he maintains he was never drunk on the set of his sitcom,” says another source.

When he finally decided to seek help, the song and dance man entered an Arizona rehab facility in 1972.

“Dick was locked in a ward with hardcore addicts!” adds the source.

Through the years, the funnyman also waged grueling battles with severe arthritis and crippling back pain.

“He blamed his physical style of comedy and the pratfalls he took for his agony,” says the source. “He was only able to control the pain with chiropractors, steroid injections and heat and ultrasound treatments.”

Frustrated Dick also endured mysterious pounding headaches and was terrified he had a brain disease.

Two years ago, the star revealed he was suffering from an undiagnosed neurological disorder that robbed him of sleep and left him fatigued.

“My head bangs every time I lay down,” Dick complained on a scary Twitter message, adding he had been plagued with headaches for many years. After undergoing a multitude of medical tests in a desperate effort to find answers, he finally announced the problem was linked to his titanium dental implants.

Still, there was speculation the beloved star was suffering from an undiagnosed brain tumor, an aneurysm or even deadly meningitis.

His latest catastrophe has set off a new firestorm of worry among his friends and family, who’ve watched the brave performer push through illness, injuries and pain — and keep smiling.

“They are praying Dick is okay,” the source tells GLOBE. “Everyone is hoping this is not the end.”

But the source says the courageous star is a realist: “He knows his days are numbered.”

But not all gold coins are created equal...

Don’t Follow the Crowd

U.S. gold coins, such as the Gold Eagle, are popular, but are only struck from 22 karat gold (.917 fine). Savvy gold coin buyers around the world have long sought out .999 fine gold China Panda coins as a 24 karat alternative.

First-Ever GovMint.com Release

Today, GovMint.com is announcing its first-ever national release of affordable, 24 karat gold China Panda coins exclusively for American customers. We have secured freshly-struck 2015 Tenth-Ounce Gold Pandas directly from the China Mint and are making them available to the public on a strict first-come, first-served basis.

A Panda Worth Its Weight in Gold

Each Tenth-Ounce China Gold Panda contains 3.11 grams of pure gold. Struck to a stunning Brilliant Uncirculated (BU) finish, the coin also features a one-year-only design of a Giant Panda at home within his native bamboo forest.

Collector Value Beyond Pure Gold

China has issued Gold Panda coins for over thirty years. The fact that the China Gold Panda series features new, one-year-only designs gives them high collector value beyond their 24 karat gold weight. This has made the China Gold Panda one of the world’s most popular gold coins for decades.

Lock in 24 Karat Gold as low as $149...plus FREE SHIPPING!

If you call now, or visit GovMint.com, you can lock in your own share of pure 24 karat Gold Panda coins for as low as $149 each. And you can also claim FREE SHIPPING on your order!

Our supplies are limited. We urge you to call today.

30-Day Satisfaction Guarantee

When you secure Brilliant Uncirculated 2015 Tenth-Ounce Gold Panda coins, you’re protected by our 30-day satisfaction guarantee. Don’t miss out on this exciting new release. Call immediately to claim your 24 karat gold NOW!

SURE, she knows "How to Get Away with Murder," but 50-year-old powerhouse actress Viola Davis is also an entrepreneur, played an R&B legend's mother, is a rags-to-riches success story and an award winner! Here are 10 things you don't know about the badass who's back on ABC prime time for a second season of playing legal eagle and cutthroat law professor Annalise Keating.

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT VIOLA DAVIS

WINNING TALENT

Supporting Actress for "Doubt" (2008) and Best Actress for "The Help" (2011). She won the 2015 Emmy for Lead Actress in a Drama Series.

7. Viola exposed her inner self by taking off her wig and revealing her naturally curly hair on "How to Get Away with Murder."

8. She played James Brown's mom in the 2014 movie "Get on Up."

9. Viola once did such a bad job parking, a rude note saying, "May the fleas of a thousand camels infest your armpits," was taped to her windshield.

10. Her "first big superhero movie," the DC Comics flick "Suicide Squad," comes out August 2016.

New kid on the block: Pierson (right) may replace Thorsten as alpha dog

YOUNG STUD BURSTS B&B HUNK'S BUBBLE!

SOAP hunk Thorsten Kaye is now being challenged for his place in "The Bold and the Beautiful" spotlight by his own TV son!

As ratings slide, B&B execs are trying to grab younger viewers – and older stars like Kaye are getting shunted aside.

So devilishly handsome 24-year-old Pierson Fodé, who plays Kaye's son Thomas Forrester, is now the flavor of the moment.

Fodé, who joined the cast earlier this year, will "make his bones" at Kaye's expense.

"It's like they're pitting Thorsten and Pierson against each other now," the source says.

Thorsten, 50, became a fan fave after taking the role of Ridge Forrester in 2013.

"But now he's fighting for his acting life – and he knows it," says the source.

EVIL COP NAILLED TO Remorseless Bryant Brewer

FOUL FIEND

Soulless Brewer celebrated his callous murder and tormented his victim's widow in court — but he also wanted a light sentence!

A SMUG, smirking cop killer was cut down to size by a no-nonsense judge who sentenced the monster to life in prison — then tacked on ANOTHER 115 years to make sure he'll never get out of the slammer!

Evil Bryant Brewer mocked his victim's widow and testified he was “proud” of murdering Chicago policeman Thor Soderberg, an 11-year veteran of the force.

Saying Brewer had a “malignant heart,” Judge Timothy Joyce dropped the hammer on the 29-year-old fiend.

“He will never experience a free day in his life,” the judge told Soderberg's grieving widow, Jennifer Loudon.

Certainly, Brewer earned his punishment. The cold-blooded creep jumped a fence surrounding a Chicago Police Academy parking lot and launched an unprovoked attack on Soderberg on July 7, 2010.

Brewer wrestled away the stunned lawman's gun, then shot him once in the back as he fled and twice in the face!

Then the heartless assassin, shirtless and covered in Soderberg's blood, locked eyes with another police officer, Kimberly Thorp, “smirked” and fired several rounds at her!

But another cop shot Brewer and averted a massacre. The maniac survived after being hospitalized.

Years of legal maneuvering delayed his trial, but did not wipe the self-satisfied smirk off Brewer's face.

When he finally stood trial in September, the unrepentant killer put on an odd and shameful performance in a bid for an insanity defense.

KILLER TO WALL!

WILL DIE CAGED LIKE ANIMAL

Officer Thor Soderberg was an 11-year veteran of the Chicago police force and wanted to start a family

INNOCENT VICTIM

GRIEVING WIDOW

Jennifer Loudon's plans for a child, a house – and even a dog – were blown away by the monster who murdered her husband

Brewer's heartless act began when his 43-year-old victim's shattered widow took the stand at a sentencing hearing.

"I lost everything," Jennifer told the court, dabbing the tears from her eyes.

Jennifer revealed she and her husband of five years were planning to buy a house, get a dog and become foster parents when

Brewer cut him down.

Still weeping, she testified, "I had no idea it was possible to lose so much in a single lifetime... much less in a single moment."

As Jennifer sobbed, the remorseless and cruel killer rubbed his eyes, mocking the grief-stricken widow and pretended to cry.

Then he laughed!

And Brewer didn't stop there, boasting, "Hell, yeah. I'm proud!" of his actions when he took the stand himself. He even pumped his fist victoriously when his terrible deeds were described in court.

While arguing for a lenient sentence, Brewer's lawyer said his client was mentally unfit and "belongs in a hospital."

But Brian Sexton, assistant State's Attorney, insisted there was no evidence Brewer was mentally ill on the day he executed Soderberg.

"He's a complete sociopath — evil personified," said Sexton.

As the cold-blooded monster was being led away to spend his remaining days in a cage, Sexton told him:

"Have a miserable life."

THE EX-GALPAL

Police say jilted Delgado hired a hit man

SPURNED LOVER MASTERMINDS HER RIVAL'S MURDER!

-COPS CHARGE

THE VICTIM

Beautiful Kendra was on "cloud nine"

IF SHE couldn't have him, no one would — and police say Brenda Delgado was willing to kill to make sure another gal didn't get her hands on dashing Dr. Ricardo Paniagua.

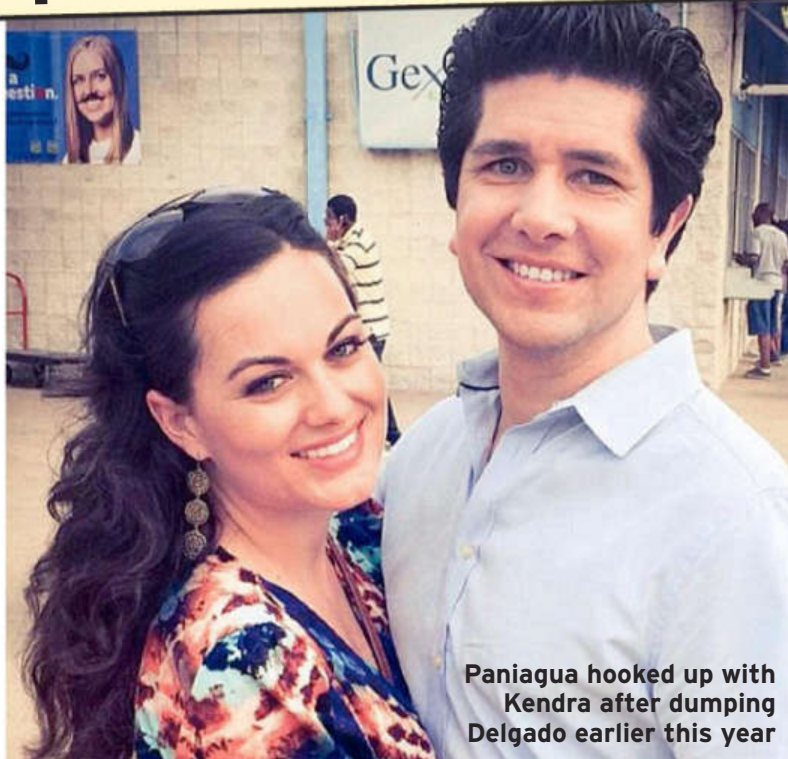

Now cops are saying vengeful Delgado, who went on the lam, masterminded the Sept. 2 execution-style murder of Paniagua's gorgeous and successful new girlfriend, Kendra Hatcher!

Sicko wanted victim's license for a twisted trophy!

Kristopher Love, 31, was arrested and charged with Kendra's murder. The lovely dentist hooked up with the Dallas dermatologist after he dumped 33-year-old Delgado earlier this year.

Police say Love was tied to the slaying by his gun — and the testimony of Delgado's 23-year-old domestic helper, Crystal Cortes.

The other woman was popular, prettier & more successful

Paniagua hooked up with Kendra after dumping Delgado earlier this year

Cortes claims she was paid $500 to drive Love to Kendra's posh apartment in a friend's Jeep so he could rob the pediatric dentist and bring her driver's license to Delgado as a twisted trophy, police say.

But Kendra, 35, was murdered instead — and police insist jealousy was the motive!

For two years, dental hygiene student Delgado considered Paniagua her best friend and the love of her life. She told pals she couldn't imagine living without the handsome Stanford University graduate.

But he ditched Delgado and met much prettier Kendra, who was popular in Dallas for her work with children's charities.

Family tears

"Kendra was on cloud nine" after meeting Paniagua, a friend said. "We were all happy for her."

But the smiles turned to tears — and her family is demanding justice.

In a joint statement, relatives said, "We cannot fully mourn and celebrate her life" until lawmen nail those "responsible for committing this senseless act."

FOR the love of God, someone needs to hide David Cassidy's car keys and the booze before he kills himself or someone else!

The former Partridge Family kid is now a 65-year-old loser. And time has not been good to him. All you have to do is take a look at his mug shot to see the deep lines under his eyes and around his brow.

He has now racked up three DUI arrests since 2010 in Florida, New York and California.

His latest run-in with the law came in September when police say he sideswiped a big rig truck in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with his 2014 silver Kia Sportage; then stopped and attempted to cover his license plate before taking off with a flat tire.

He wasn't tested for booze or drugs when cops finally caught up to him about 90 minutes later. But he was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving with an expired tag. Both charges are misdemeanors.

Cassidy was also cited for driving with a suspended license and for making an improper lane change. His lawyer claims the police report is filled with inconsistencies. But, let's face it, Cassidy, who filed for bankruptcy earlier this year, needs serious help - not excuses.

I've seen too many Hollywood stories like this end in heartbreaking tragedy.

TRUMP'S WRITE ON THE MONEY!

Fans have Donald signing $100 bills to keep as souvenirs

DEVOTED supporters of Republican presidential frontrunner Donald Trump are showing him the money — and asking him to autograph it!

An insider says the billionaire businessman is so revered fans are asking him to sign $100 bills, which feature Founding Father Benjamin Franklin's face!

"These people certainly do NOT have money to burn, but they are convinced The Donald is the answer to their prayers," says the insider.

"They believe he is the only candidate who can get America out of the doldrums and put that money — and much more — back in their pockets.

"They see the autographed bills as cherished souvenirs from the man who will be President — the People's President!"

While Republican Party leaders desperately want Trump, 69, to go away, he still leads in the polls.

"His business skills transfer to politics," says one supporter. "It's smart thinking, the kind we need to Make America Great Again."

"We're going to have so many victories, you will be bored of winning," the former "Celebrity Apprentice" host, author of the upcoming book, "Crippled America," tells his supporters.

Says the insider, "Donald is offering America hope — real hope.

"And the crowds that follow him everywhere believe their autographed Benjamin Franklins are a sign they are all going to be winners."

stereotypes make history."

Kanye's tirade has left observers scratching their heads — again.

"Every time Kanye opens his mouth," says one Hollywood insider, "there's no telling what's going to come out!"

Haunted Bindi pushing to DESTROY

Bindi dedicated a performance with "Dancing With the Stars" partner Derek Hough to her fallen father BINDI Irwin is desperately fighting to keep photos of her father's last moments from being leaked onto the Internet.

It's been nine years since Crocodile Hunter Steve Irwin was tragically killed by a giant stingray while filming his TV show off the coast of Australia.

But images of his gruesome death have surfaced — and Bindi is furiously trying to have them destroyed.

"This is Bindi's worst nightmare," says a source. "Seeing those photos would be more than she could bear. She'd collapse in emotional agony."

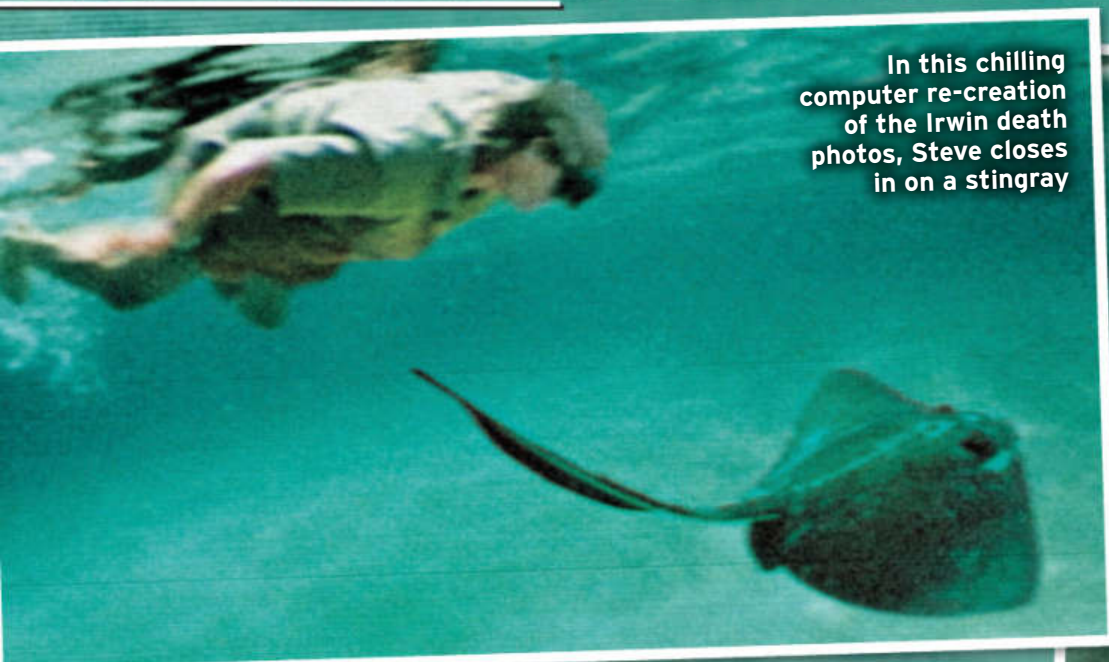

"She's vowed to go to war with anyone who tries to publish them."

As Bindi hides her torment behind her sunny smiles while competing on "Dancing With the Stars" with professional dancer Derek Hough, she revealed her secret heartache in

ENTER DEATH NIGHTMARE!

BOY CHILLING IMAGES of her dad's final moments

In this chilling computer re-creation of the Irwin death photos, Steve closes in on a stingray

A barb pierces the star's chest in this dramatic reenactment. Bindi wants the originals destroyed a touching TV tribute on Oct. 5. "Dad is always with me. I carry him in my heart," she said on the show. "For the rest of my life, I'll feel like he's going to come home."

But the chilling death scene pictures drive home the impossibility of her dream.

The images show 44-year-old Steve standing on the ocean bed with blood flowing from his chest — stabbed in the heart by an eight-foot ray's jagged barbed tail.

Bindi, 17, her mom, Terri, 51, and brother, Robert, 11, have lived in fear the chilling images shot in 2006 will end up online.

'I'm dying'

Their worry intensified when camera operator Justin Lyons provided graphic details of the Croc Hunter's final moments to an Australian TV audience last year, sparking renewed interest in the tragedy. He revealed Steve had almost completed filming for the day but wanted one final shot, swimming behind the giant stingray.

"Justin didn't realize Steve was in trouble and kept filming," says a source. "But then he saw blood spreading through the water. Steve's last words were, 'I'm dying.'"

While the cameraman vowed never to release the footage, an Irwin family insider explains,

"Sadly, the video appears to have been taken without permission and copied. It was under lock and key for years.

"No one knows who would cash in on Steve's death."

Adds a close family friend, "Bindi's furious and wants the footage destroyed.

"She's appealing to Internet companies not to post photos or video if it's offered. She's begging them to let her dad rest in peace."

NEW RETINA PATCH CAN CURE BLINDNESS!

NEW stem cell implants may be able to cure blindness caused by age-related macular degeneration (AMD), top doctors say.

Hailed as a major breakthrough in combating AMD caused by fluid or blood leaking into the eye, the treatment uses a stem-cell loaded patch to cover damaged portions of the retina.

“Such surgery could be routine within three to five years,” says London-based Dr. Lyndon Da Cruz, who is spearheading the technique.

Affecting 15 million American seniors, AMD is the leading cause of blindness and central vision loss among adults 65 years or older. Roseanne Barr revealed earlier this year she is fighting the condition and expects to go blind.

Macular degeneration is a gradual breakdown on parts region in the center of the retina.

The dry form is caused by thinning of retinal pigment in the macula. These support light-sensitive cells critical to vision.

So far, the groundbreaking surgery, which centers on those with wet AMD, has only been performed on a 60-year-old woman, who was unable to see faces or read. The patient is still recovering, so the doctors don't know how much her vision has of the retina that allows people to see fine details.

There are two forms of the condition: “wet” and “dry.” The wet form is brought on by blood vessels leaking fluid or blood into the eye's macula improved. They expect her to be fully healed in December.

But Da Cruz, who performed the operation, is confident her vision will be restored!

Deaf people die sooner!

+ LISTEN up! If you have hearing loss, you may have a higher risk of dying! Researchers have found people over 70 with moderate or severe hearing impairment had a 54 percent greater risk of dying than those with normal hearing. The researchers then adjusted for variables including sex, race, education and heart risk factors – and still found grim news for those losing their hearing. However, scientists don't know why deafness shortens your life.

Dark chocolate helps you walk!

+ DARK chocolate can literally keep you on your feet! Italian researchers discovered people whose blocked arteries cause low blood flow to their legs can benefit from the tasty treat. Eating about an ounce and a half of dark chocolate can help folks with peripheral artery disease walk farther and longer, the study reveals. Milk chocolate did not have the same effect. The chocolate used in the research had a cocoa content of 85 percent.

A NEW super pill beats superbugs that have become immune to traditional antibiotics!

And that's great news because more and more deadly bacteria are resistant to drugs.

But the new pill contains a chemical compound known as ML302 that prevents bacteria from fighting antibiotics, meaning new drugs don't have to be developed to stop infections.

Scientists at Britain's Oxford University say their discovery specifically targets germs no other drug has been able to overcome.

And to make it even more effective, the compound will be combined with a common antibiotic to deliver a potent knockout punch.

But even alone, the new pill is particularly effective against urinary tract infections, researchers say. Scientists believe it works better than a drug cocktail currently being tested in Europe.

An antibiotics expert predicts the discovery will ultimately be used against E. coli bacteria, which are the most common form of bloodstream infections.

DAUGHTER UNMASKS POTHEAD O'DONNELL!

Brands Rosie a 'PHONY' with a 'REALLY SHORT FUSE'

Rosie's daughter describes her as mean and cruel

Rosie O'Donnell's teen daughter is trashing the former "View" co-host — branding her adopted mother a dope-smoking "phony!"

Chelsea O'Donnell, 18, insists Rosie's bubbly and engaging TV personality is all an act — when the cameras aren't rolling she's often mean

"with a really short fuse" and indifferent.

Chelsea claims her lesbian mother booted her from the family home in Nyack, N.Y. two weeks before her 18th birthday.

And she contends Rosie was lying when she told police — and the world — that she'd run away!

Rejecting Rosie's cruel view that she's mentally ill, Chelsea is fighting back and saying she just has issues.

Chelsea also says Rosie can be an indifferent parent, revealing she was closer to two nannies than her own mom!

"When we were home, she would either just be in her room, not engaging with us, or watching documentaries," the teen says.

Rosie is also fond of smoking marijuana, reveals Chelsea, who says the family home stinks from all the weed!

But Rosie isn't very mellow, says her daughter, who dishes:

"If we didn't want to do what she wanted to do, it would cause a big issue."

Roker's Twitter pic caused a storm of protests

BONEHEAD ROKER UNDER A CLOUD!

HEARTLESS weatherman AI Roker was forced to apologize for posting a grinning selfie taken amid the deadly flooding in South Carolina.

The "Today" star tweeted a photo of himself and his two-person crew with ear-to-ear smiles using a car trapped by a collapsed road as a back drop.

The selfie brewed up a storm of protest.

"Leave it to AI Roker to show up to a disaster where people have died/lost their home and take a smiling selfie," charged one commentator.

Roker, 61, took down the image but for many his apology was too little, too late.

Doomed Dr. Kiersten Cerveney flaunts her sin-sational curves pool-side before the tragedy

PARTY G DOC'S DEAD DOUBLE L

Abandoned beauty DIED IN DOG
COCAINE BINGE linked to top T

A BEAUTIFUL doctor leading a deadly double life left her three children motherless — as her drug-ravaged body was abandoned outside a sordid Manhattan drug den!

By day, Kiersten Rickenbach Cerveney, 38, was a dermatologist and medical school professor. The former beauty pageant winner was married to a fellow doctor, and their family lived in a $1.2 million mansion in the swanky New York suburb of Massapequa, Long Island.

But by night, she was a wild child who loved to live dangerously — drinking and drugging until dawn while her unsuspecting family slept soundly!

Kiersten's bizarre hidden side finally proved deadly after a long night of partying, investigators say.

Police believe Kiersten fatally overdosed during an out-of-control cocaine binge with TV producer Marc Henry Johnson and alleged drug dealer James Holder.

Using the story of an innocent “girls night out” as a cover, Kiersten had spent the evening of Saturday, Oct. 4, in a mad-drug rampage.

She drank and snorted cocaine at a hotel with pals before moving on to a bar, police sources say. There, lawmen say she ran into Johnson, 51, who took a pre-dawn cab ride with her to Holder's lair.

Partying producer Marc Henry Johnson

“A great mom”

Johnson — a producer whose projects include the HBO pilot “The Deuce,” starring James Franco in a drama about the porn industry — knew Kiersten before her 2009 marriage to Dr. Andrew Cerveney Jr., sources reveal.

The pair visited Holder, 60, who's served several prison stints on drugs and weapons charges, according to records obtained by GLOBE.

The trio kept partying, detectives believe — possibly engaging in wild sex.

At around 8:30 a.m., sources say, Johnson and Holder were caught on video dumping Kiersten's unconscious body — “She came out topless,” says a witness — in the building's

IRL ADLY LIFE! DRWAY AFTER TV producer

New York CSI investigators tote evidence away from the shocking death scene lobby. Johnson called 911 and fled, according to sources.

Paramedics tried in vain to revive Kiersten. Her panties were found in her purse, leading to speculation that drugs were just one of the vices she indulged in during her final hours.

A building resident told GLOBE that Holder shares his apartment with girlfriend Gerri Decicco, 69. "Gerri's pissed off. She says she was sleeping when this was going on," says the neighbor.

Kiersten, America's 1995 Junior Miss, had cultivated a perfect image. Friends struggled to account for the lurid details surrounding her shocking death.

Country club pal Penny Morash insists the druggie was "a great mom."

Actress Caron Bernstein — star of "Operation Midnight Climax" — says Kiersten was "a happy drunk," adding, "She was a good girl!"

But friends reveal Kiersten's family is shell-shocked by the tragedy.

"Her husband and father are only just finding out that she wasn't the perfect mom they thought she was, and they're dreading what might come out next," says a source.

"They're disgusted at the cowardly way her body was dumped like a piece of old junk furniture."

The wild party girl embraces two of her children in a deceptively suburban setting

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of October 26 - November 1

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

You're intrigued by someone trying to unearth all their family secrets, but your energy is better spent working on your own problems. Finalize holiday plans early to get the best travel prices. Stay close to home during Sunday's Cancer moon, when a chance to win a contest comes right to your door.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

The emphasis is on comfort – or your lack of it. Toss too-tight clothes, and replace that old chair you're always complaining about. Your social life goes from boring to soaring when Venus meets Saturn this weekend. Whether with kids or adult pals, you'll have a blast! The number 7 is lucky!

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

The answer you've been waiting for finally arrives Monday, and for some Twins, this kicks off moving plans. You could find it tough to keep your efforts focused, but with Mars at the wheel, there are some things you can't postpone. Don't be afraid to ask for help! You'll get everything done fast!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

The cash worries that have plagued you for months are coming to an end. You can pay bills and set some aside for a rainy day! Although Saturn has you thinking about a career move, don't burn any bridges yet. Spend time with a friend in need, even if it means postponing your own plans.

LEO July 23 - August 23

It seems easier to walk away from a bully co-worker or troublemaking neighbor, but look for the best in people and you'll be surprised by what you find. Single? You could attract the attention of someone special. Focus on your home Sunday – it's time you addressed drippy faucets and peeling paint!

CELEBRITY BIRTHDAY

WINONA RIDER
turns 44 on
Oct. 29

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

You're reminded of how precious life is when a close call – yours or a loved one's – scares you as Mercury and Saturn clash on Monday! Spend time laying out your priorities for the rest of the year – you'll spot ways to free up more family time. You'll be thrilled by who knocks on your door Saturday!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

A desire to secure your financial future comes over you during the Taurus full moon. Start a savings account or look into investing, but stay away from snap decisions – take some time to think things over. With Halloween magic in the air, go out and party! There's someone fun waiting for you!

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

The crisp, fall air puts a spring in your step, and you're eager to get going on the big future you've got planned for yourself. You'll need to work alone, though, as everyone around you is busy with their own projects! A relative could use your Scorpion wisdom – pick up the phone and call!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

If warning bells go off in the middle of a financial pitch, listen up! Your ability to sense truth – or fiction – stands you in good stead as Saturn and Mercury clash. If you're looking for love, Venus brings a May-December romance twist but you won't meet that special someone by staying home!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Romance could turn more tricks than treats when you're paired with someone who turns tiny problems into major catastrophes. But hide your annoyance – there are some silver linings in those clouds! The nesting instinct kicks in this weekend, when it's better to entertain at home than go out.

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Office or neighborhood politics are hard to navigate this week and you're better off keeping your distance from the players. Just because you think you're broke doesn't make it so! Get ready to attract a new source of income. Welcome a fresh face to your circle under Friday's Gemini moon.

PISCES February 19 - March 20

There's a cauldron of resentment simmering, and it could boil over unless you turn down the heat in a hurry! You can soothe hurt feelings – just pay more attention to your neglected partner or pals. Take a second look at the financial offer you just turned down – Saturn says it's a winner!

LIZ TAYLOR'S LOST PHOTOS!

Movie legend as you've never seen her

ELIZABETH TAYLOR'S tender 1964 wedding-day kiss with husband Richard Burton is one of 50 rarely seen photos recently discovered in lost archives!

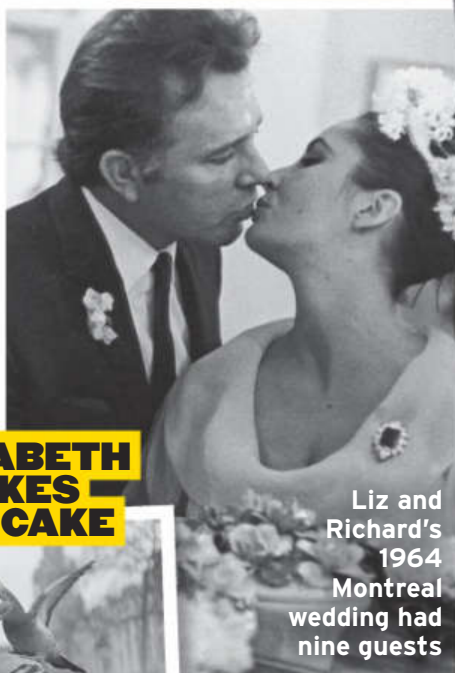

Now the pictures have been collected for a special show at Getty Images London gallery to pay tribute to Liz's 30-year campaign to raise awareness of HIV and AIDS.

The photos chronicle the late actress' dazzling career — from her breakthrough as a child star until her death in 2011 at age 79.

Curator Susanna Harrison says: "We wanted the images to reflect her incredible spirit and determination, while at the same time showcasing her legendary beauty and rise to become one of Hollywood's best-loved actresses."

Liz had her cake and ate it, too — even at home in 1947 L.A.

NOTORIOUS Hollywood stud Ryan O'Neal is dying — but his lusty legend will live on in explosive diaries obtained by GLOBE!

The journal reveals the “Love Story” hunk’s passionate affairs with Barbra Streisand, Diana Ross, Melanie Griffith and other showbiz sirens.

And it gives a heartbreaking look at his tragic romance with the late Farrah Fawcett even as he faces his own final days alone and in pain.

His ’70s affairs with Oscar winner Streisand and Supremes’ star Ross both fizzled due to diva attitudes, the journal reveals.

Ryan, now 74, got fed up with Babs’ egotism when they made “What’s Up, Doc?”

“I remember watching her review thick stacks of photos, one at a time and saying, ‘Gee, that one looks good, Barbra,’ and her responding, ‘Kill it!’ ‘But I like —’ ‘Kill it!’ She’s never satisfied with how she looks.”

Wild sex romps

Ryan’s relationship with Ross died on the road when his car ran out of gas! “I made her help me push the Rolls-Royce to a gas station. I thought that was funny. She didn’t.”

Ryan seduced future “Working Girl” star Melanie — his daughter Tatum’s pal — when she was just 18, and sources say Tatum caught them in bed!

Another notch on Ryan’s bedpost was Bianca Jagger, then wife of Rolling Stones’ Mick Jagger.

Ryan and Bianca were caught having a wild sex session in 1973.

REVEALED!

DYING LOVED

“I walked into the room to find them going at it like a pair of maddened wart-hogs,” wrote “Dr. Strangelove” screenwriter Terry Southern in a letter to director Stanley Kubrick.

But the skirt-chaser was tamed in the late ’70s when he met Farrah while she was married to TV’s “Fall Guy,” Lee Majors.

Ryan — already the twice-divorced father of three — wrote in his journal: “Could this be love? I mustn’t do anything to harm it. We give each other strength and hope.”

After her divorce, they moved in together and had son Redmond, who was born in January 1985. They never married and split in 1997.

But after the “Charlie’s Angels” beauty was diagnosed with anal cancer in Sept. 2006,

RYAN'S DIARIES!

Ryan returned to her side.

Shortly before she died at age 62 on June 25, 2009, he wrote: "I lay next to her in bed and hold her. She asks me in a voice that has become barely a whisper, must she get another procedure? I promise her 'no more.'"

Now, O'Neal is facing his last days, say sources.

Battling three types of cancer — leukemia, melanoma and stage 4 prostate cancer — Ryan has burned bridges with friends and family, and has not found love since Farrah.

"Ryan knows he'll die alone," says a source. "He's been so combative with so many people, including his four children, he's facing the saddest end.

"His only comfort is knowing he will be reunited with Farrah. He's never stopped loving her."

TEEN QUEEN SELENA: I'M BATTLING LUPUS

FORMER Disney Channel sweetheart Selena Gomez is opening up about her battle with the terrible disease lupus – and her nasty, doubting critics!

"I was diagnosed with lupus, and I've been through chemotherapy," says the 23-year-old pop singer and actress, who's been lying low.

"That's what my break was really about. I could've had a stroke."

When she canceled part of her 2013-'14 tour and dropped out of sight, Hollywood was buzzing with talk of drug addiction and rehab.

"I wanted so badly to say, 'You guys have no idea, you're ass*,'" says Selena, who is working on her new album, "Revival."

Her lupus diagnosis goes hand in hand with vicious body-shaming she endured earlier this year after bikini shots showed her looking overweight.

Those attacks mirror what lupus does to the body: The immune system turns on you, destroying healthy tissue.

"I'm so f**

nice to everybody, and everyone is so vile to me," Selena fumes. "It's so disappointing."

But at least she is healthy again – and has finally set her medical record straight.

Selena was slammed by body shamers when she could least afford it

JOE DIMAGGIO WAS IMPOTENT!

SAY it ain't so, Joe!

New York Yankees legend Joe DiMaggio was left impotent when a surgeon operating on his stomach accidentally cut a nerve to his genitals. The disaster affected his ability to get over his failed marriage to sex goddess Marilyn Monroe!

The slugger's torment is revealed in a book by Dr. Rock Positano, who befriended the Yankee Clipper in 1990 while treating him for bone spurs.

Joe D. was famous for his aloofness, but took a shine to Rock, who is now baring his former patient's deepest secrets.

ELVIS™

Rock and Roll Legend Glass Sculpture

Over 1,000,000 laser points etch an exceptionally detailed, 3D image of the King of Rock and Roll™ inside an optically pure glass block.

Elvis Presley

Viewable from every angle!

Because the 3D image can be admired from every angle, you can display this exclusive laser tribute anywhere you want to show off your admiration for Elvis!

Shown smaller than approximate size of 6" high x 3" wide

Crystal-clear salute to The King™

After a string of blockbuster movies, Elvis Presley longed to be back in front of a live audience. That's when his manager negotiated a TV deal that would give NBC its biggest ratings victory of the year — Elvis: '68 Comeback Special! Now, the skilled artisans at Hamilton pay homage to The King and his legendary special with "Elvis™ Rock and Roll Legend Glass Sculpture."

This laser-etched tribute wins rave reviews!

With guitar in hand and casually dressed in leather, over 1,000,000 precision laser points create this 3D image of Elvis as he crooned to an intimate audience on his TV special. Skillfully crafted inside an optically pure glass block, it can be easily viewed from every angle and features Elvis's signature etched onto the side. Your tribute is then displayed on an individually hand-numbered solid base emblazoned with colorful artistry of Elvis from the television special. Plus it arrives with a matching, numbered Certificate of Authenticity.

Cops, reporters, drug dealers and club-goers form alliances in 1982 L.A., in order to expose a serial killer. "Gossip Girl's" Ed Westwick plays the psycho, Kent, who finds a perfect partner in Betty (Erika Christensen).

Fri., Oct. 30, CBS, 9 p.m.

A modern-day Dr. Frankenstein trying to resurrect a dead love makes for a Halloween trick for the squad. Meanwhile, Danny (Scott Caan) faces the treat of dealing with his daughter's wild partying.

'FAMILY FEUD'

SEX SCANDAL!

STEVE HARVEY TOO RACY FOR KIDS

CLEAN up "Family Feud!"

Outraged viewers are blasting host Steve Harvey for sexually explicit comments they say make the classic game show unfit for kids!

"I don't need my 7-year-old asking me what that stuff means!" fumes one livid fan.

And people are vowing to tune out if the outrageous raunchy banter doesn't stop!

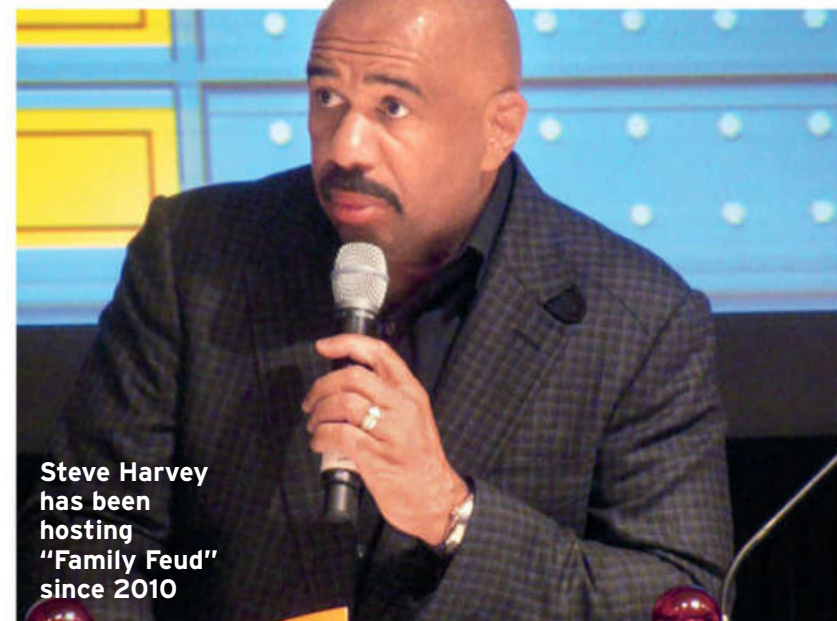

"Shame on Steve Harvey," charges one viewer. "Cheap jokes of a sexual nature remind me of a fifth grader's locker room. Boring. Disgusting. Lowbrow. Will never turn it on again."

But "Feud" has always pushed boundaries. When the late Richard Dawson hosted from 1976 to 1985, he raised eyebrows by kissing ALL female contestants on the lips.

And the new version goes way further!

During a recent episode, Steve asked a player to "name the first part of a woman you touch to get her in the mood."

Then he asked for "the last

Steve Harvey has been hosting "Family Feud" since 2010 thing you stuck your finger in."

Not surprisingly, those questions brought explicit responses not usually seen on a family-friendly show.

And video clips of the dirty jokes quickly went viral, with one netting nearly 17 million views!

They aren't the only naughty bits flashing on the show, which has featured edgy categories like "Do Me/Tool Time" and questions about male genitalia.

But the blatantly bawdy tone is new, thanks to the "Think Like a Man" comedian, who took the helm in 2010. While ratings for "Feud" are on the rise — it's overtaken "Jeopardy!" and "Wheel of Fortune" — viewers warn of a backlash if Harvey doesn't clean up his act.

"Sorry to say it, Steve Harvey has become the Jerry Springer of game shows. We're not watching anymore," charges a former "Feud" fan.

TV FACT

"Meet the Press" is TV's longest running television program, first broadcast on NBC in November of 1947.

IS ZIVA RETURNING TO NCIS?!

CAGEY brass for "NCIS" are tight-lipped, but it sure seems like Special Agent Ziva David, last seen in season 11, might return to the Navy Yard – and to ex-flame Tony DiNozzo.

"We'll continue to delve into the love life of Tony, and there might be some surprises for people a little further down the road ... especially for our diehard fans," says show honcho Gary Glasberg.

"NCIS" die-hards were definitely crushed when actress Cote de Pablo left after eight years as the Israeli special agent, who idolized

Things might be heating up again between Tony and Ziva

"NCIS" boss Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and struck sparks with her goofball partner, Tony (Michael Weatherly). And those devoted fans would love for Ziva to return and a reunion with Tony.

Earlier this year, Cote didn't rule out the possibility. While promoting her CBS miniseries, "The Dovekeepers," she said: "I think the fact they never killed the character off is very telling."

Speaking of telling ...

"We'll have to see what unfolds," teases Gary. "I'm not going to say a word."

GET READY TO SEE MORE 'BLINDSPOTS'

NBC thinks gorgeous bombshell Jaimie Alexander will be showing even more ink-credible tats and have ordered nine more episodes of her hit "Blindspot."

The drama's Sept. 21 premiere attracted 10.6 million viewers, the network's best 10 p.m. ratings since last year's "The Blacklist."

Clearly, NBC wants more – and the additional episodes add up to a full-season order!

"Blindspot" centers on a heavily inked mystery woman whose body art actually points to crimes needing to be solved.

As Jane Doe (Alexander) and FBI Agent Kurt Weller (Sullivan Stapleton) unravel each mystery, they get closer to the truth of her real identity.

And NBC gets closer to Monday night success!

AMERICAN HORROR STORY SERVES SERIAL FOR DINNER

Wes Bentley stars as John Lowe in the new "AHS: Hotel"

DEATH'S on the menu for a special Halloween shindig at the "American Horror Story: Hotel" on Oct. 28.

The haunting holiday episode, called "Devil's Night," involves detective John Lowe (Wes Bentley) receiving an invitation to a unique dinner party at the Hotel Cortez – one where killers like John Wayne Gacy and Aileen Wuornos are also guests.

John is already tied to the creepy hotel, thanks to his investigation of the Ten Commandments Killer, who is terrorizing L.A. with murders.

"He thinks someone is pulling a huge prank on him," says showrunner Ryan Murphy. "It's the biggest serial killers of all time in a room with him, and he has to figure out who is trying to make him lose his mind."

And one of those maniacs is a face familiar to "AHS" fans – a cast member who's been in "Murder House," "Asylum," "Coven" AND "Freak Show."

"Lily Rabe (is) playing Aileen Wuornos, which is really fun and bizarre," adds Ryan. "I will tell you that she's at the centerpiece."

But hopefully not on the menu!

A Holiday Centerpiece That Truly Says It All

For the first time ever, the Christmas artistry of Thomas Kinkadee inspires a sculpted village scene at the center of a grand Always in Bloom® arrangement of hand-crafted flowers and greenery. Enhanced with over 20 LED lights, flickering candle "flames" and Thomas Kinkadee narrating The Night Before Christmas, "The Lights of Christmas" Village Centerpiece will grace your home with cheer for years to come.

Designed to Delight in Every Way!

Measuring a full 18 inches wide, this grand centerpiece is a wonder to behold. Behind the sculpted village stand three tapered candle sculptures. Santa's sleigh and reindeer are attached to the front of the candles, so they appear to be soaring above the village. Seemingly alive with seasonal poinsettias, red roses, holly leaves, greenery and pine cones—all individually hand-made for true-to-life texture and color—our Always in Bloom® centerpiece rivals anything you might be able to find in a high-end flower shop. Reserve yours today at only $149.99*, payable in four installments of $37.50, one due before shipment. Your satisfaction is fully guaranteed, so don't wait. Order today!

CRAZED QUAID COLLARED AGAIN!

NUTTY star Randy Quaid's tragic public meltdown is continuing, with authorities in Canada arresting the disheveled actor — who's now posted a video pleading for help from Barack Obama!

The 65-year-old actor, famous as Cousin Eddie in National Lampoon's "Vacation" comedies, fled to Canada with his equally weird wife, Evi, in 2010 to avoid warrants for their arrest in America.

In the couple's latest video, filmed in a park and posted after Quaid's recent arrest, Evi asks the president, "What kind of *ed-up country and State Department holds warrants out for two people like this for six years?"

Meanwhile, a paranoid Quaid is muttering, "Is that a cop out there? Are they looking over here?"

The shocking YouTube images are just the latest in a series of troubling public displays, which include a home movie of the couple having sex while ranting against the film industry!

HIS SHOCKING TRANSFORMATION

BIZARRE MELTDOWNS over new immigration woes

Quaid and "The Slugger's Wife" co-star Rebecca De Mornay hit the red carpet in 1985 convinced Quaid has been targeted by a cult they say killed actors David Carradine and Heath Ledger.

"They follow us, they tail us, they tag our cell phone, they hack our computer," rants the star of "Independence Day."

"We believe there to be a malignant tumor of star whackers in Hollywood!"

The actor could now be deported back to the U.S. with Evi, 52. They'd finally face charges of residential burglary — after breaking into a property in Montecito, Calif., they claimed to own.

In his most recent video, Quaid seems convinced the White House is his only hope — also pleading to Secretary of State John Kerry: "You're the top guy, and you can do something about it!"

Producers still hint Quaid could return for the upcoming "Independence Day" sequel

RATHER: MY BUSH REPORT WAS TRUE

ROBERT REDFORD'S new movie, "Truth," has ignited a nasty war of words between disgraced anchorman Dan Rather and CBS News.

In 2004, Rather reported then-President George W. Bush may have gone AWOL from the Texas Air National Guard during the Vietnam War!

Critics called the story a hoax.

Rather, 83, was forced to apologize — and was later ousted from CBS.

Now "Truth" depicts Rather as a courageous reporter betrayed by the network.

But CBS is calling "Truth" a bunch of lies!

"It's astounding how little truth there is in 'Truth,'" says a CBS spokesman, charging the film turns "gross errors of journalism and judgment into acts of heroism."

"There wasn't any doubt," insists Rather. "The story was true!"

BOOZER TED KENNEDY WAS BAD DAD!

Family patriarch

TORMENTED drunk Ted Kennedy was an awful absentee dad who ignored his desperate kids' pleas to check into rehab!

That's the shocking revelation in a new tell-all book by Ted's son Patrick — and the charge is ripping the late senator's powerful clan to shreds.

Family members are attacking Patrick, 48, for breaking the Kennedy "code of silence" and revealing the inner workings of the dynasty.

But Patrick, a scandal-scarred former Rhode Island congressman, is sticking to his guns.

He says his book, "A Common Struggle: A Personal Journey Through the Past and Future of Mental Illness and Addiction," was written to help him cope with his troubled childhood.

His father was scarred by the 1960s murders of his older brothers, President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Ted lavished more attention on the fatherless children of JFK and RFK than his own three kids — late daughter Kara, who died at 51, and sons Ted Jr., 54, and Patrick. Ted never really recovered from his brothers' grim deaths, Patrick writes.

"My father went on in silent desperation for much of his life, self-medicating and unwittingly passing his unprocessed trauma onto my sister, brother and me," writes Patrick, who has battled drug abuse and depression for much of his life.

"My dad never got to grieve. He had to be there for the country. He had to be there for my family. He had to be there for my Uncle Bobby's 11 children, and John (JFK Jr.) and Caroline."

By the early '90s, Ted's drinking was so out-of-control his concerned relatives staged an intervention to convince the patriarch to get help.

After his kin gathered for the showdown, Patrick writes: "I remember him closing the sliding doors. And then sitting down in his big, blue suede chair and we all said, 'We're worried about your drinking.

You need to get help. And he stood up, you know, opened the sliding door and walked out.

"And then he wrote me a letter. And he basically said, 'For the time being, you know, don't think of coming by to visit.'

"He felt we really had no place, no place whatsoever to question him. Go mind your own business. Back off! That was the message."

Now, the Kennedys are delivering their own message to Patrick — that he's a traitor to the family!

His big brother, Ted Jr., called Patrick's book an "inaccurate and unfair portrayal of our family" that left him "heartbroken." Patrick concedes his stepmother, Vicki, 61, who is the senator's widow, feels the same as Ted Jr.

Patrick also reveals his 79-year-old mom, Joan, who has battled booze and divorced Ted in 1982, is the only family member who is siding with him!

A family insider tells GLOBE: "It's an all-out war inside the family. It's the first time a member of the Kennedys has broken away and spilled family secrets."

FLASHBACK

BETTE'S THE CREAM OF THE CROP!

DRAMA queen BETTE DAVIS had Hollywood licked by 1935! Once a pert pin-up with alluring eyes, her unforgettable performances made Bette the undisputed ruler of Tinseltown during a career that spanned nearly 100 films. Amazingly, 27 years after this photo was shot, Bette was nominated for a Best Actress Oscar for her work in "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" The movie featured Bette as a deranged former child star in a legendary role that ends with her dancing pitifully on a beach – with TWO ice cream cones!

Mermaid Reunites Long Lost Lovers

The perils of the sea are no match for the mermaid's treasure known as aquamarine.

Ever since ancient times, sailors have sworn by aquamarine as a talisman and protector for anyone traveling on the open water. According to legend, aquamarine originated in the treasure chest of mermaids, and has since ancient times, been regarded as "the sailor's lucky stone."

We've heard the legend of men heading out to sea with an aquamarine amulet around their neck and once they safely return, that same stone becomes a ring for their sweetheart. That romantic tradition is carried forward in our stunning Aquamarine Ice Ring.

Derived from the Latin words for "water of the sea," the refreshing blue aquamarine gemstone is embraced by a polished, .925 sterling silver setting and surrounded by shimmering white DiamondAura®—our signature lab-created stone. You get the full effect of the aquamarine in a stunning 1.40 carat emerald cut, which floods the icy blue color with waves of brilliant light.

Aquamarine has excellent clarity and transparency. In fact, a member of the beryl family, aquamarine is a sister of the rich green emerald. And, with its gorgeous baby blues, it's easy to see why the emerald may get a tad green with envy.

You can easily find one carat aquamarine rings for over $5,000 at Fifth Avenue jewelers. Bringing you luxury for less is our mission at Stauer, so we priced our Aquamarine Ice Ring so you can make a splash without shelling out too many clams.

No need to test the waters. Slip this remarkable ring on her finger and create a legend of your own without risking the perils of the sea.

Your satisfaction is 100% guaranteed. Wear the Aquamarine Ice Ring for 60 days and if you're not completely delighted, send it back for a full refund of your purchase price. So, go ahead and make a splash!
